

am a fan of warm to humid weather
Never felt cheerful wearing a sweater
Lucky for me and my lizard hide skin
I can change colors as fast as the wind
I use this skill to adapt to the habitat
To avoid getting pounced and attacked
I also have an intrinsically long tongue
It isn't over until the fat lady has sung

H

roam amongst the ample ocean floor
Always looking for more fish to score
When I am scared and feel threatened
I use my very own powerful weapon
I can eject large clouds of blackish ink
If only those clouds were colored pink

K nown proudly as the 'little armored one'

I believe life is just a huge bundle of fun
I am a natural explorer; I vicariously dig Deep into the soil, my! The holes are big My leather skin protects me from harm
I have an instinct that works like a charm
When I feel really scared, I roll into a ball
When I wake up, all problems are solved

I lounge around in the huge big blue sea
Marine life is definitely the life for me
I may seem as if I'm so cute and small
But in reality, I am seriously not at all
My defense of intense levels of toxins
Balances out my slow motion in action
I can also bloat to the shape of a sphere
Although small, I am an animal to fear

Land and sea is a no immense feat for me
I wander about almost blissfully glee
Of course I always set my own pace
I am known for my slow natured ways
When its times of danger and fright
I never try to win the frightening fight
I just hide inside my protective shell
If you should spot me, please don't tell

A normal day in the lush and beautiful forest
It may be my home but I feel like a big tourist
I wear my superbly smart coat of sharp spines
Protecting myself and keeping my borderline
It is mainly pitch black dark when I am around
Night is the nocturnal animal's familiar ground
I am a herbivore which means I eat only green
But trust me, no kidding, I can be lean and mean

I

am a very wild and incredibly potent creature
My lethal poisonous venom is my main feature
It can kill most animals in about twenty seconds
Let's hope they all end up in a sparkling heaven
When I run into some danger, all I can see is red
It usually isn't me that is the dinner that is fed
I do contain my usual blatant signs of warning
I shake my rattle tail for those that are lurking
